Part 2 – A special event

One of the special events I attended and cannot forget about is a movie festival called PIFF, which stands for Pusan International Film Festival.

- 명사 called 명사: 명사라 불리는 명사
- stand for 명사: 명사를 말한다

Part 2 – A special event

It's held in Busan every fall. As far as I remember, in November? As its name says, it's an international film festival, where a number of movies from all over the world are introduced and promoted to sell. So, people can see not only newly released movies but independent movies that people cannot get hold of in the movie theatres easily. Also, it gives awards to movies for its popularity and good work. Therefore, people can do and enjoy a lot of things in this festival. They can see a variety of movies, enjoy the special events like red carpet shows with famous actors and actresses, celebrations with popular singers, and getting signatures and taking photos with celebrities.

Part 2 – A special event

Why I find this festival special is it's a great chance to see foreign movies from other countries, like the third countries. I love French movies and Vietnamese movies but it's hard to find the place that shows them. So, I try not to miss out those kinds whenever I visit the festival. Also, it has special events like talking with movie directors or actors and actresses after watching movies. As a moviegoer, it's the most exciting part of the event to me. Furthermore, during the festival period, people can get in great price if they buy the tickets in bulk. More than 30% discount? How can I not look forward to this festival? I think you should try it too.
