❖ Full Response

Well, in my case, I prefer to buy food that has already been prepared. And, I feel this way for a couple of reasons. First of all, there are some benefits of buying food that has already been prepared. To be more specific, I believe that time is money, so I cannot afford to waste time cooking in the kitchen. So, by buying food that has already been prepared, which is fast and convenient, I can save time. Another reason is that it is also helpful in numerous ways. What I mean is that these days, I'm on a tight budget, so I cannot afford to buy many different ingredients. Therefore, buying food that has already been prepared can be more economical. So, this is why I prefer to buy food that has already been prepared.

Mandatory Student Housing
Beginning in the fall semester, all freshmen will be required to live in the dormitories for a full two semesters. In the past, the policy was to allow freshmen over the age of 20 the option of living in the dormitories or to locate their own housing off of campus. However, in the interest of providing the best possible environment for studying, the dean of students has approved this plan. The majority of students who live off of campus have to get part time jobs to pay for their rent, which limits the amount of time they can devote to studying. Students who wish to be exempted from this regulation must provide proof that they have the finances to live off of campus without needing to work.

Now listen to a conversation.

❖ Listening Script

M: Did you hear about the new rule for incoming freshman?

W: The housing issue? Yes, I was shocked.

M: As was I...why do you think they are doing this?

W: I'm not entirely sure. I think that it's good that the university is trying to ensure that freshmen get a solid start to their academic career, but is that really their motivation?

M: What do you mean?

W: Well, think about it. If the freshmen are forced to live in the dormitories, then the school will be charging them for housing. The money that they would otherwise spend on rent will be paid to the university.

M: That's true. Besides which, I lived in the dormitories when I was a freshman, and I still had a part time job. Not everyone has a scholarship or parents who can pay for all of their bills.

W: Exactly. It just seems like the school is trying to guarantee that they receive the money that landlords would.

M: Yes, it does appear that they have some kind of ulterior motive.

W: Did you feel like your job interfered with your studying when you were a freshman?

M: No, not really. Of course it took up a lot of my free time, but my parents could only help me so much.

W: So, do you think that we should protest against this requirement?

M: Yes, I think so. After all, the incoming freshmen cannot do anything about it.

W: Yes, it really is unfair.

❖ Question

The woman expresses her opinion about a student's suggestion regarding the university's bike sharing program. State her opinion and explain the reasons she gives for holding that opinion.

-Another reason he mentions is that

-Therefore, the man opposes the idea of the letter.

❖ Full Response

The university announces that all freshmen will be required to live in the dormitories for two semesters. However, the woman in the conversation is not fully in support with the idea. And, she feels this way for a couple of reasons. Her first reason is that living in the dormitories does not mean that students are exempt from paying a housing fee. According to the woman, the money that would be spent on rent would just be paid to the university instead. Another reason she mentions is that having a part time job does not really interfere with students' studying. Therefore, the woman opposes the idea of the announcement.
