❖ Full Response

Well, personally, I believe that it is an important part of children's education to go on field trips to places such as museums and zoos. And, I feel this way for a couple of reasons. First of all, there are some benefits of going on field trips. To be more specific, as long as students have access to places such as zoos and museums, they can obtain all kinds of useful (educational) information such as information about art, history or biology. Another reason is that it is also helpful in numerous ways. What I mean is that as a student, children are under a lot of stress from their studies and exams. And, going on a field trip really helps. This is because they can have an opportunity to socialize with various friends. So, this is why I believe that it is important to go on field trips.

❖ Convenience Template

Kitchen Facilities in Dormitories
At present, most of the newer dormitories have cafeteria facilities on the first floor of the building. However, many of the older, smaller dorm buildings have no such amenities. So, students are forced to walk to other dormitories or the Campus Center to purchase meals. I propose that the university change its policy regarding cooking in the dorms to accommodate these students. It would not take much time or money to convert one of the meeting rooms in each of these dorms into functioning kitchens with appliances like refrigerators, stoves, and microwaves and cooking utensils. Students could provide their own dishes and store groceries in the refrigerators. Harold Furt

Now listen to a conversation.

❖ Listening Script

M: Hey Tabitha, how's it going? You look confused.

W: Confused? No...doubtful maybe...have you read this letter to the editor?

M: Which one? Oh, about adding kitchens to some of the dorms? Yes, I did read it. I think it sounds like a pretty good idea. Those students shouldn't have to go to other buildings just to have a meal.

W: Yes, I agree, that is unfortunate.

M: But, you have concerns?

W: Well, yes. I mean, whose responsibility will it be to keep the kitchens clean?

M: I would assume the students that live there would have to work out some type of schedule.

W: I suppose so, but would they really adhere to such a schedule? I mean, we have a kitchen area in the break room at the store where I work part time. But, the employees rarely do anything to keep it clean. Once a month, the assistant manager has to throw out everything in the refrigerator because people always leave food in there and never do anything with it. It ends up rotting away.

M: And you think that these students wouldn't do much better?

W: No, I really doubt it. Many of them have never lived alone before, so they haven't had that kind of responsibility.

M: Well, you may have a point there, but it doesn't really affect us, does it?

W: No, I suppose not since we don't live in the dormitories.

❖ Full Response

The student in the letter recommends that the university change its policy regarding cooking in the dorms to accommodate these students. However, the woman in the conversation is not fully in support with the idea. And, she feels this way for a couple of reasons. Her first reason is that she is concerned about keeping the kitchen clean. According to the woman, she has a kitchen at her work, but no one does anything to keep it clean. As a result, the manager has a throw everything away once a month. Another reason she mentions is that the students do not have responsibility. She explains that this is because many of the students have never lived alone before. Therefore, the woman opposes the idea of the letter.
